

Small/Mid Cap Equity Fund

OBJECTIVES AND PHILOSOPHY

The Small/Mid Cap Equity Fund seeks to provide investors with maximum long-term capital appreciation. In pursuing its goal, the Fund invests primarily in the common stock of small- and mid-capitalization companies traded in the U.S. The Adviser selects investments which are either included in the Russell 2000®, 2500™ or Midcap® Indices or have equity capitalizations within the ranges of these Indices at the time of purchase. Highly speculative or illiquid stocks are not candidates for the Fund. To control risk, extreme overweighting or underweighting of the Fund relative to the Russell 2500 Index is normally avoided. To thoroughly diversify, the Fund consists of 75 to 150 different stocks, each making up a relatively small portion of the Fund.

The Adviser employs a Growth at a Reasonable Price (GARP) investment philosophy in the management of the Fund. The GARP approach provides an opportunity to invest in companies with strong earnings growth selling at attractive valuations.

COMMENTARY

US stocks added to first quarter 2017 gains, with the S&P 500® Index rising to 3.09% in the second quarter. The Small/Mid Cap Equity Fund Institutional shares generated a strong return in the second quarter of 2017, outperforming the Russell 2500® Index by 0.75%.

In the second quarter, the technology sector continued to be the strongest driver of relative performance in the Fund. The majority of this outperformance was the result of stock selection. Portfolio holdings CoStar Group and Paycom Software outperformed. The Fund remains overweight the technology sector though some gains were harvested from selected companies.

Healthcare posted the strongest absolute return of any Russell 2500 sector, rising 9%. The sector also contributed positively to relative Fund performance. Insulet Corporation, a manufacturer of insulin pumps for diabetics, was a top performer and the Fund exposure to Insulet was increased early in the second quarter. The Fund exposure to healthcare rose during the quarter as valuation and earnings growth presented attractive buying opportunities.

The industrials sector of the Russell 2500® kept pace with the index return in the second quarter and the sector contributed to relative outperformance. Despite several contributors to outperformance in the sector, restaurant equipment provider Middleby Corporation was a disappointment, posting a negative return. However, the Fund maintains its position in this holding as the outlook for restaurant technology spending driven by innovation, remains strong. The Fund continues to be overweight the industrials sector due to expectation for strong relative earnings growth.

The financials sector of the Russell 2500 underperformed the index average as interest rates remained historically low. The sector was neutral to relative performance. Insurer Progressive Corp. and banking company East West Bancorp posted strong returns and earnings growth. The Fund remains underweight Financials relative to the Russell 2500.

Consumer Discretionary was also neutral to relative performance though the sector continues to underperform indices on an absolute basis. Disruption by e-commerce providers, notably Amazon, has dampened earnings growth of traditional retailers. In addition, consumers continue to shift spending to “experiences” as opposed to “things”. Portfolio holding Norwegian Cruise Line Holdings is well positioned to capitalize on this trend and remains one of the larger weightings in consumer discretionary. The Fund continues to be underweight consumer discretion due to the negative relative growth expected from traditional consumer industries such as retail and restaurants.

DISCLOSURES

Mutual fund investing involves risk. Principal loss is possible. Growth stocks typically are more volatile than value stocks; however, value stocks have a lower expected growth rate in earnings and sales. Small- and medium-capitalization companies tend to have limited liquidity and greater price volatility than large-capitalization companies. Investment in IPOs can be volatile and can fluctuate considerably. IPOs can have a magnified impact on funds with a small asset base. Investments in foreign securities involve greater volatility and political, economic and currency risks and differences in accounting methods.

The Russell 2500® Index is a subset of the Russell 3000® Index and includes approximately 2,500 of the smallest securities based on a combination of their market cap and current index membership. The Russell 2500® Growth Index includes those Russell 2500 companies with higher price-to-book ratios and higher forecasted growth values. The Russell 2000® Index is a subset of the Russell 3000® Index representing approximately 10% of the total market capitalization of that index. It includes approximately 2000 of the smallest securities based on a combination of their market cap and current index membership. The Russell Midcap® Index is a subset of the Russell 1000® Index and includes approximately 800 of the smallest securities based on a combination of their market cap and current index membership. The Standard & Poor's 500 Index (S&P 500®) is an American stock market index based on the market capitalizations of 500 large companies having common stock listed on the NYSE or NASDAQ. The S&P 500 index components and their weightings are determined by S&P Dow Jones Indices. Index vendor sources may vary, resulting in slight variations in the index returns that are displayed in performance reporting for the Rainier Funds.
